

Power to Process specialise in helping business breakdown complex issues into actionable items to achieve sustainable change and growth.

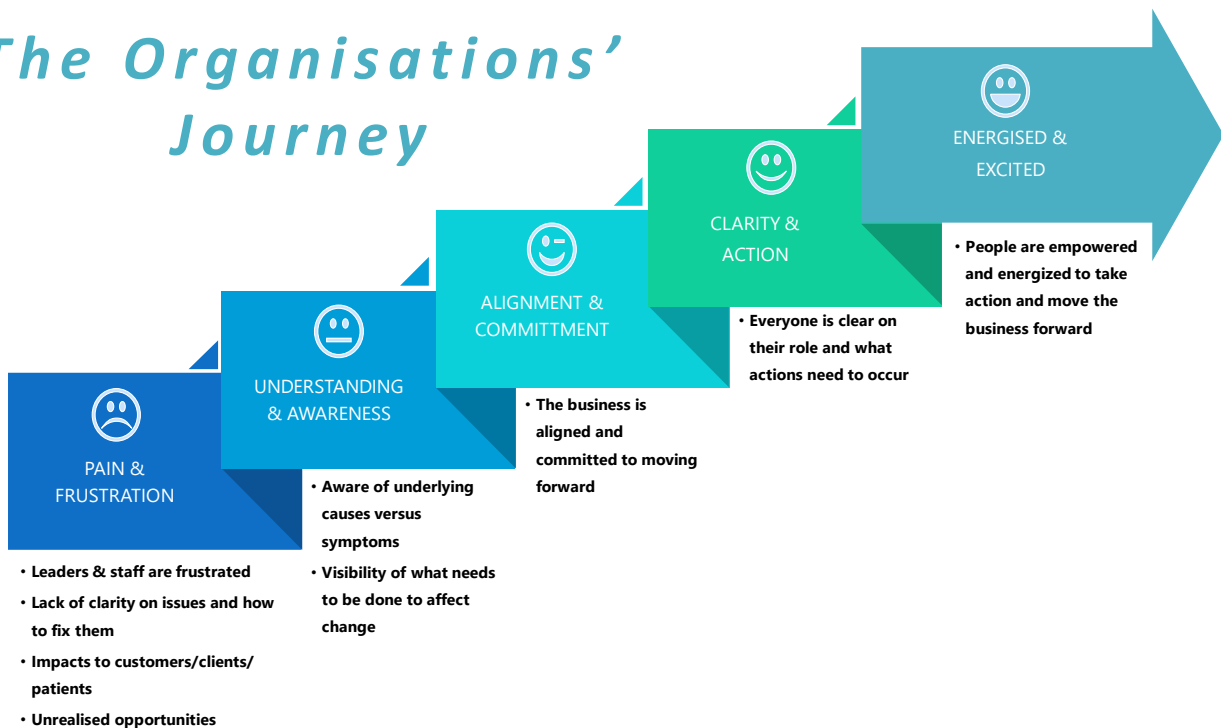

We see business owners and leaders of organisations who have problems to solve that have little or no clarity on the best pathway to achieve this. This often causes immense pain, anxiety, frustration and loss of time and money. Power to Process brings visibility to the issues and uncovers the root causes. We then provide customized solutions that are not just concepts but actionable steps to resolve problems.

We help businesses investigate and articulate the problems, understand the causes, define the answers, and implement the solutions.

We have helped businesses design new programs, create streamlined processes, empower teams through targeted training solutions, built centralized resourcing models and merged companies. Our skill set allows us to break down any issue or opportunity into actionable steps through implementation plans that bring them to life.

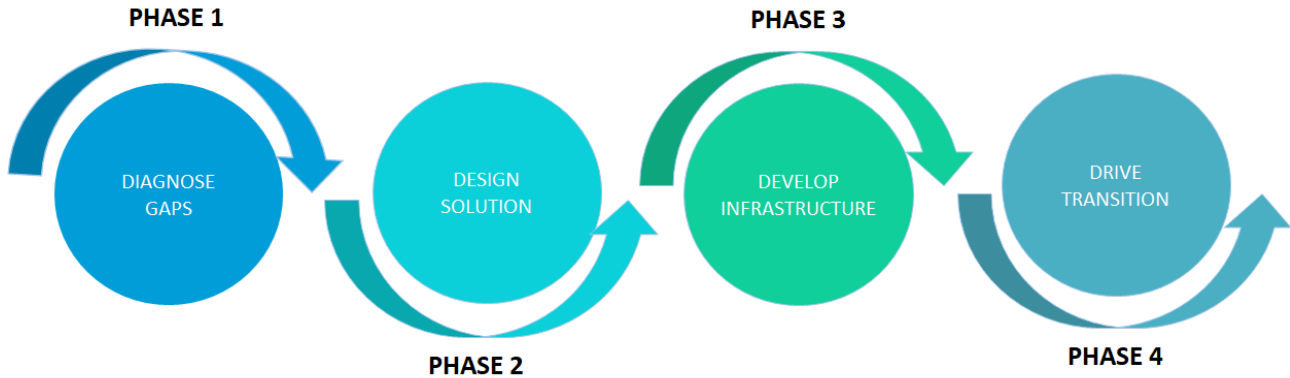

We are passionate about taking the entire business or business unit on the journey, turning pain and frustration into energy and excitement.

The Organisations' Journey

Our services:

Power to Process provides organisational support through a process underpinned by four key phases. Each of these phases can be provided as a standalone program or combined to provide end to end project support.

Phase 1: Diagnose gaps

In phase 1 we help businesses understand what is really going on. We help define the gaps and articulate the opportunities. We engage key stakeholders to identify who is being impacted internally and externally including customers, patients, other departments or external services. This phase focuses on articulating the problems, defining the scope of the change project, costing the ROI for your business and understanding change management planning needs.

Phase 2: Design solutions

In phase 2 we collaborate to design a future state. Using process mapping we articulate how it can be delivered and what is required across a range of areas including communications, reporting, systems, customer touch points, KPI's, information flow and documents.

Phase 3: Develop Infrastructure

In phase 3 we work closely with your people to develop the infrastructure to enable the new future state. We provide an implementation plan and support in creating documents, policies, training and high-level system requirements

Phase 4: Drive transition

We work closely with our clients to embed the new processes into the day to day operations of the business. This is often the most challenging part of the project. It involves ensuring engagement and alignment occurs at all levels within the organization. It focuses on ensuring resources such as policies, templates, guidelines and appropriate communications and reporting channels are set up to support the organization in the new process. It also involves ensuring teams are set up with the skills and knowledge to deliver through training, mentoring and learning opportunities.

Creating a culture that thrives through change

Power to Process understands that an organisation's ability to change successfully can be hampered by its culture. We work closely with our clients to give them the skills and knowledge to manage change. We have a range of programs to support our clients in creating a culture that embraces change and innovation. Every project has a change management plan alongside it with the option of training for leaders at all levels in the organisation. We believe that building these skills within an organisation is critical for the success of the project.

Small Business Solution: Creating Clarity Workshop Series

Power to Process has developed the creating clarity workshop series to specifically support small business owners and their teams to uncover and articulate those steps needed to deliver on their strategy and goals. Our unique skill breaks down complex matters into very simple steps and processes to obtain extraordinary outcomes.
